To whom it may concern

I take this opportunity to write in support of Dugong Baseline Study in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands pursued by Mr. Hasmukh Jiwa and GreenLife Society, Andaman and Nicobar Islands. I have been associated with this project from its inception and consider it a very important study. Very little is known about Dugongs of Andaman and Nicobar Islands and new information on these least known mammals will be very valuable for science in particular to zoologists, mammalogists, marine biologists, wild lifers, naturalists, oceanographers and biodiversity experts.

It will be our pleasure to provide scientific support, field guidance and analysis of data to this important work.

We wish very best to Mr. Jiwa in his endeavor.
